

October 27, 2008

Kramnik wins first game - Anand now leads by 6:4

Vladimir Kramnik (Russia) won today his first game at the World Chess Championship 2008. World Champion Viswanathan Anand (India) had to resign the game after 29 moves. Anand now leads by 6:4. After the rest day tomorrow the next game of the Championship will start on Wednesday, October 29, 3 p.m.
Read here later the annotations of game 10 by GM Amador Rodriguez.

All photos by: Torsten Behl.